

But when memory embraces the night I see those days long since gone, like the ancient light of extinguished stars travelling still, and shining on.