

They are arranged side to side with minimum gap. Their front edge is made of wear-resistant material. Each slide is individually adjustable, forward and backward. The adjusting operations do not influence the position of neighbouring slides.